An Excaped Jatibird at His Old Tricks.

A notorious thief, named Joseph McIntesh, alias Coleman, was held by Judge Snell this morning for housebreaking in the daytime. The evidence against him was to the effect that he was seen to enter the store of Mr. George W. Golden of 103; Twenty-ninth street, Georgetown, and try to steal the contents of the money-drawer. He was seen to reach up and prevent the bell over the door from ringing and was afterward caught with the money-drawer in his hand. It was also proven that he escaped from the jail officials while on the way to the penitentiary. He was held for the action of the grand jury. The Slaughter Continues.

Not Approved by Democrats.

The Baltimore correspondent of the New York Times mays of the feeling of the Dem-The Ballimore correspondent of the New York Times says of the feeling of the Democrats there over Higgins' appointment. Democrats who do not approve the appointment are declaring that if it stands it will be regarded as a rebuke to Democratic efforts to get rid of just such men and their methods in this State. One storling Democrat, whose indelity to his party is unquositioned, said that if the protest of the decent men of the State against the appointment was not heeded, he should expect to see the State carried by the Republicans in two years. When the rule of the men who own Higgins began, he said, "bis state was Democratic by 40,000 majority. That majority has been reduced year by year. In the last election it was oaly 7,000. The State is as strongly Democratic at heart as ever, but Democratic shave been driven from the support of Democratic have been driven from the support of Democratic and dates because of the picking of cancerses and the momination of bad cashidates through the manipulations of Higgins and others. There was only one effective way of expressing disapprovat, and that has been adopted. I would not undertake to say what deem to hemocrate will do in the future. I know that they feel as if they had been tried beyond their patience."

DECEIVING A JUDGE.

McCauley's Pupils Sent to the Albany Ponitentiary for a Term of

Three Years. Some days ago two boys, named Harry and Charles Foulk, were convicted with George C. McCauley and others of breaking into the store of Andrew Archer, and giving their ages as less than 16 years, hey were both sent to the Reform School during their minority. Subsequently it was accertained that one of them had been was accertained that one of them had been in the school before, and both being over sge, admission was refused them. They were brought into court to-day and the Judge, after commenting upon the deception which had been practiced upon him, directed that an order as follows be made: "It appearing to the satisfaction of the Court that the prisoners, Henry and Charles Folk, cannot be received into the Reform School for the reason that they are upward of 16 years old, and are therefore not subject to that form of punishment; and further appearing that the Court was mistaken by the former statements of the prisoners to the effect that they were under 10 years of age, and for that reason the sentonee committing them to the Reform School is set aside."

He then sentenced each of them to the Albany penitentiary for three years.

THE POLICE COURT.

Two colored boys named Adolphus Burden and Ephraim Shaw were put on trial for assaulting each other. Shaw claimed that Burden cut at him several times with a knife and cut his clothing in several places. The other boy stated that Shaw struck bim on the head with a marble and then took his hat away and refused to return it. He then forced witness to light struck him on the head with a merble and then took his hat away and refused to return it. He then forced witness to fight and got him down when he (witness) draw a knife in self-defense. The Court said in disposing of the case: "The boy Shaw was in fault, but I don't like to justify this use of knives. If boys have to fight, let them fight with their fists and then there will be no serious results." Shaw was fined Si and Burden was dismissed.

Shaw was also put on trial for house-heaking in entering the canal boat of Kerns J. Kirby on June 30 last and stealing a stove. The boat was entered by cutting a plank out of the cainin. The evidence was conclusive and the defendant was held for the action of the grand jury in $500 bail.

James Wheeler, for the larceny of a revolver from James Mead, was sentenced to jail for one month.

Hughes Acquitted of the Charge of Assaulting Andrew Gosswell.
William Hughes, charged with assaulting Andrew Gosswell, an appeal from the Po-lice Court, was tried in the Criminal Court to-day. The presecuting witness was not inclined to testify, explaining that others more guilty than the defendant had gotton off, and he did not care to go further in the matter. It seems that Gosswell had been taking a sleigh-ride and went into a house, taking a sleigh-ride and went into a house, and while absent some one made off with the turnout. On Bridge atreet, Georgetown, he found the sleigh, and while trying to obtain possession of it the crowd attacked him. It was supposed that Hughes was one of the assaulting party, but the evidence failed to establish the fact and he

The Charges Against Architect

The Charges Against Architect Ctark.

It is understood that Secretary Lamar will concur in the opinion of the Sonato Committee on Public Buildings in regard to the stone cutters' charges against Architect Clark of the Capitol. The committee think that Mr. Clark did not do wrong when he directed the stonework on the new terrace to be done by contract instead of day's labor. There have been instances where labor. There bave been instances where the committee has ordered him to do such work by contract.

Argument of Accused's Counsel. There was a lovely perfume in the Hazor Court-Martial room to-day. Judge Maskey and his able associate, Major M. Dumont, cach had a beautiful bouquet before him. The Judge-Advocate also had a number of goto flowers lying upon his desk. A bou quet, as usual, almost hid the handsome face of General Hancock from the view of the ladies. This was only for a short time, however, as the General put the flowers to his left, so that he could be seen by all the a curtsey, such as would one of our High School girls.

After the reading of the journal Judgo Mackey asked that the record be so corrected as to show that the article from the Chicago Tribinae with reference to General Hazen's letter to Secretary Lincoln was printed on the 26th of February and not the 25th. The Judge Advocate objected to reorening the case for evidence.

Judge Mackey said, if given the time, he could prove that the article was printed on the 26th. The original paper, containing the article, was lost.

The court decided to reopen the case to allow the defense time to prove the correctness of their statements. Judge Mackey, after looking over the paper of the 26th, and not finding the article, said he was mistaken as to the dates.

Judge Mackey then began his argument

Judge Mackey then began his argument for the accused. for the accused.

Referring to the first specification, in which General Hazon is charged with having criticised the official action of the Secretary of War in the matter of the laster's retary of War in the matter of the laster's decision not to send an expedition for Greely in September, 1883, Judge Mackey cited authorities to show that the Secretary was not in performance of his official duty at the time; that there was evidence adduced to show that the Secretary was in the performance of his official daty. He held that there was no such authority as originating an Arctic expedition vested in the Secretary of War. Only the President of the United States can originate such au expedition. No evidence, Mr. Mackey said, was brought out any time to show that the accused meant to criticise or impuga the was brought out any time to show that the accused meant to criticise or impugn the motives of the Secretary.

Taking up the second specification. Judge Mackey said his client had been guilty of no effense in addressing, a communication to the Secretary without being requested or authorized to do so. He said there was no law which requires this, and even if there was, nothing in Goneral Hazzn's letter which in any way reflected upon the Secretary.

A Slight Hitch in Wiggins' Pro-

There was a terrible storm yesterday. There was a terrible storm yesterday. There were carthquakes in divers places. There were tidal waves of abnormal and slarming proportions. There were signs in the heavens and the moon was turned into blood. It is true that all these alarming aigns of the times were invisible to the natural eye of man; but faith works marvels. Wirgins sent forth an edlet that there should be a storm, and undoubtedly a storm there was. Wirgins said that there were to be earthquakes, and surely Wiggins is an honorable man. Wirgins has arranged for himself a comfortable little seat upon one of the highest branches of the tree of the knowledge of storm and calm, and thence with his spy-glass he seronely sweeps the heavens, and the forces of nature are obedient to his fait. Worst of all, he calmly tells a waiting world that "all these are the beginnings of sorrows," and "the end is not yet." For a week the terrible hurricane which yesterday devastated our ceast, carrying death and destruction in its wake, is to continue; for Mr. Alegins is deaf to the heartfelt prayer which is going up from tortured humanity, "Oh, Wiggins, give us a rest"—N.
